Message from the Acting Vice Chancellor – Dr. William May

It gives me immense pleasure to write for the FNU Library Services. Fiji National University always places the needs of students and staff at the forefront. The FNU library has been playing a key role towards supporting learning, teaching and research at FNU. An important role of the FNU library is that of assisting students and staff in achieving academic excellence and assisting them in becoming lifelong learners.

There is much more about academic libraries than just being a storehouse of books, newspapers, magazines and journals. FNU library provides a more collaborative learning environment for its users with adequate facilities and seating arrangements.

FNU has fifteen library centers spread across different campuses. There is a huge collection of e-resources such as e-databases, e-journals and e-books that library is adding to ensure that wide range of information is available in all areas of study for the staff, researchers and students. Access to e-database is also available from any locations wherever in the world you are.

FNU libraries are also developing into learning commons. A restructure at FNU library ensured that the library staff met the informational needs of staff and students.

With technological advancement, the FNU library strives to update its services and facilities to ensure optimum learning. Despite the impact of COVID19 pandemic, the FNU library and its staff continue to deliver towards fulfilling the University's goals and objectives ensuring that the quality of education is maintained.

The FNU library equips students and staff with life-long learning skills and develops the imagination, understanding, broadening the thinking and reasoning and helping shape the character of students and staff.

Senior Library Management Meeting

To meet our targets and keep track of our progress, the library management team led a staff meeting with user engagement librarians and subject research liaison officers on 11th September 2020. Effective discussions were carried out during the meeting such as issues faced at all fifteen campus libraries, resources required at different locations, difficulties faced by librarians to meet the needs and requirements of our users' and what support is required from higher management to help librarians meet the goals and objectives of FNU library services. Applicable resolutions and plans to eventuate in 2021 was successfully constructed. The meeting concluded with fruitful antidotes. FNU library acknowledges all its staff towards smooth operation of its services and encourages further creativity to help improve and enhance the learning, teaching and research needs of the University.

Library Support towards Mental Health

Mental health is exceedingly important in this revolutionizing environment. FNU library provided their support towards creating awareness on mental health and also ensured that all library staff is provided proper guidance towards understanding and being compassionate about our user's needs. Mental health plays a vital role towards achieving desired results, good physic, good health, improving organizations productivity and also recuperate personally. Libraries around different locations created positive vibes towards mental health through attractive charts and successful stories via noticeboards.
