This edition of the book is an enlarged version of the earlier editions and provides a clear easy to understand overview of the subject that is gaining importance among present day teachers, students and researchers in economics. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF
12.	Forest Products and Wood Science: An Introduction 	Authors: Rubin Shmulsky, P. David Jones Description: Forest Products and Wood Science provides thorough coverage of all aspects of wood science and industry, ranging from tree growth and wood anatomy to a variety of economically important wood products, along with their applications and performance. The text explores global raw materials, the increasing use of wood as a source of energy and chemicals and environmental implications of the use of wood. This edition features new material on structural composites, non-structural composites, durability and protection, pulp and paper, energy and chemicals, and global raw materials. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF
13.	Politics and Economics of Tropical High Forest Management: A case study of Ghana	Author: Thorsten Treue Description: This book provides a case study into the complexity of tropical high forest in Ghana. It documents that national forest inventories for a long time yielded results that were either over-optimistic about the annual allowable cut or of little use at policy level. Yet, the most important reasons for deforestation and forest degradation stem from market and legislative failures. This has resulted in major government and export revenues forgone, and the capacity of the timber industry has become far	CAFF

14.	The Economic Theory of Community Forestry 	Author: David Robinson Description: Community forestry is an expanding model of forest management around the world. Over a quarter of forests in developing countries are now owned by or assigned to communities and there is a growing community forestry movement in developed countries such as Canada and the USA. There is, however, no economic theory of community forestry and no systematic treatment of the potential economic advantages of promoting Community forestry in developed countries. As a result, much of the policy debate over forest management and forest tenure rests on confused and often erroneous views held by policy makers and encouraged by the dominant forestry industry. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF
15.	Forest Health and Biotechnology: Possibilities and Considerations	Author: National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine. Description: Forest Health and Biotechnology examines the potential use of biotechnology for mitigating threats to forest tree health and identifies the ecological, economic, and social implications of deploying biotechnology in forests. This report also develops a research agenda to address knowledge gaps about the application of the technology. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF

16.	Understanding Forest Disturbance and Spatial Pattern: Remote Sensing and Gis Approaches 	Editors: Michael A Wulder; Steven E Franklin. Description: takes you through the general biological or landscape ecological context of forest disturbance to remote sensing and GIS technological approaches and pattern description and analysis, with compelling applied examples of integration and synthesis. Written by experts, peer-reviewed to adhere to the strictest standards and highest quality criteria, these chapters discuss natural and human-caused forest change and consider factors such as biological setting, monitoring approaches, scale issues, and pattern analysis. The book explores forest disturbance and spatial pattern from an ecological point-of-view within the context of structure, function, pattern, and change. It concludes with a summary of the issues related to detection and mapping of forest disturbances with remotely sensed and GIS data. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF
17.	Economics of Carbon Sequestration in Forestry	Editors: Roger A Sedjo, R Neil Sampson, Wisniewski, Joe. Description: The workshop detailed in this book concentrated on how economic principles and analysis could contribute to the planning of forestry projects aimed at affecting terrestrial carbon balances. More than 30 international scientists came together for one week near Stockholm, Sweden and divided into working groups charged with addressing a specific issue and preparing a paper within this period. This book contains the majority of papers presented at this meeting, and includes both the	CAFF

18.	Essentials of meteorology : an invitation to the atmosphere 	Authors: C. Donald Ahrens, Robert Henson Description: is written for students interested in gaining insights into the dynamic workings of the atmosphere. The authors' ability to explain relatively complicated ideas in an easy-to-understand way lets both science and nonscience majors visualize the principles of meteorology. Online animations help you to immediately apply the text material and understand the underlying meteorological principles, and appendices allow you to explore meteorological data such as world temperature extremes and precipitation extremes over a 30-year period. Location- Koronivia [2 copies] OPAC Link: Click Here	CAFF
19	Business and Management for the IB Diploma 	Author: Peter Stimpson, Alex Smith Description: The book links closely to the syllabus, following the same division into topics and with clear highlighting of higher level material. Clear, simple language makes the text accessible to students of all abilities. The content is tailored to the requirements and assessment objectives of the IB syllabus and emphasizes an international dimension with numerous case studies. It includes learning objectives and summaries, integrated Theory of Knowledge material, following the IB syllabus structure and content specifications, a chapter on assessment and exam techniques. It features the following topics: Business organisation and environment; Human resources; Accounts and finance; Marketing; Operations management; Business strategy.	CAFF
