Message from the University Librarian – Dr. Udya Shukla

We provide both print and electronic resources to support the various academic programmes. The e-books and e-journals are accessible both onsite and offsite and you can find many interesting information by browsing our library web page. The flood of information and increased developments in technology is overwhelming and in this age of information explosion, our library team is always available to will help you locate, select and acquire the information you need. The team of experts are here to collaborate and assist build your information literacy skills. There are information literacy training programs facilitated by us where you may consult with the library staff to attend the session. We are always committed to make sure you succeed and thus, have user engagement librarians and subject research liaison officers in the library to help you find right information from right source for your studies and assignments. Further to this, we ensure to provide you with a safe, user-friendly environment where you can use the library as a place of learning, information and communication. The library is oriented towards expanding digitization capacity for future generations and thus, we continuously work to further develop our services to meet the changing information needs of the users where we strive to get at the heart of the things that matter most to users. With this note, I wish you all very best for a successful 2022 full of learning, new possibilities and ideas. We look forward to seeing you here in the library and reaching out to us.

It gives me much pleasure to welcome you to the Fiji National University Library services. The University Library is looking forward to help you in your studies and in making good use of your knowledge. We have fifteen library centers to provide you with the best possible service where you can physically access and exploit available sources of information.
