More than 1500 students will graduate in the Fiji National University's Suva Graduation ceremony on Friday 2 December 2011.

FNU has so far graduated close to 4500 students since its inception in 2010.

Students will be graduating in the areas of Engineering, Medicine, Nursing, Education, Business Studies, Tourism Studies, Agriculture, Media and Journalism, Computing Science and Maritime Studies, among others.

A total of 35 outstanding students will receive awards, prizes and gold medals during the ceremony.

FNU has a multi-tiered education programme ranging from short courses, certificate, diploma and degree to post graduate and master's level.

Students at FNU are able to benefit from the multiple point entry/exit system that allows candidates to progress to master's level starting from a certificate programme, as their career and life circumstances allow.

This will be the seventh graduation for the University and will be a momentous day for an institution that is only two years old, said Vice Chancellor, Dr Ganesh Chand.

The total number of students graduating in the December 2011 ceremonies is 2593 -- 1562 in Suva, 183 in Labasa on 6 December, and 848 in Lautoka on 9 December.
