

FNU embarks on enrolment roadshow

FNU Staff assist students with enrolment at MHCC in Suva.

The Fiji National University (FNU) will be conducting roadshows around the country tomorrow and Saturday to provide academic counselling and assist with enrolment of students for Semester One, 2019.

Students, parents and guardians are encouraged to visit any of the FNU teams to clear any doubts, concerns or receive professional guidance on enrolment.

FNU Director Marketing and Communications Jenies Mudiliar said with less than three weeks to the commencement of the new academic year this would be an ideal opportunity for new students to finalise the programmes they intend to pursue.

“The pop-up shops ease the burden on students and parents to travel to FNU Campuses.”

Through this initiative, students will be able to receive professional guidance and counselling right at their doorsteps,” said Mudiliar.

“So I encourage everyone to take note of the date and venues and come out in numbers to receive assistance regarding enrolment.”

The FNU teams will also provide guidance to potential students on completing application forms and accept completed forms for further processing.

Details of the FNU roadshow is provided below:
